WOMAN DIES FROM INJURIES IN CYCLE CRASH

Collision With Automobile at Foye's Corner Brings Sad Result to Pleasure Party From Franklin, N. H.

Mrs. Audrey Bellevue, aged 22 years, wife of Clarence Bellevue of Franklin, N. H., died at the Portsmouth hospital at 9.30 o'clock as the result of injuries sustained on Sunday afternoon when the motorcycle side car in which she was riding crashed into an automobile, owned and driven by Stephen H. Hobbs of Kittery at Foye's Corner.

The motorcycle car was owned and operated by Lorenzo Dorval and with him were Mr. and Mrs. Bellevue. In an auto following closely behind were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stevens, the parents of Mrs. Bellevue, and Mrs. Frank Kimball, all of Franklin. They had made a trip along the New Hampshire ocean boulevard under the most ideal weather conditions.

The trip was without event and everything went well until the junction of the boulevard and the Rye road at Foye's Corner was reached, when they met the automobile driven by Mr. Hobbs coming from this city, being en route to Hampton Beach.

There is a sharp turn at this point and while both drivers tried their best to avoid an accident, the motorcycle crashed into the forward part of the automobile.

Dorval escaped with only slight injury, but his two companions were not so fortunate.

Mrs. Bellevue was rendered unconscious and her husband suffered a fracture of his right leg. They were rushed to the Portsmouth hospital where they were attended by Dr. C. W. Hinnsford. It was found that Mrs. Bellevue had sustained a fracture of the skull, also internal injuries.

The motorcycle side car was badly wrecked, while only the headlights of the automobile were demolished.

Following the accident an investigation was made by police officers Smart and Trueman and it was found that Mr. Hobbs was driving his machine well on the right side of the road, which would seem to absolve him from all blame in the accident.

The body was turned over to Undertaker J. Verne Wood to be prepared for burial.

Washington, July 2.—Regulations to govern the next step in the selection of the national war army from the millions who enrolled on June 5 at the direction of the President.

They leave the responsibility and liability to the board named as to the men to be selected, but set forth in great detail as to how the work of the board is to be carried out.

It is made very clear that there is to be no class exemptions and that each individual case must be decided upon.

In a statement issued in connection with the work, the President calls upon the members of the board to do their duty fearlessly and to remember that our army at the front will be strengthened if the work is done impartially and free from any sense of injustice.

Persons who are to be exempted include officers of the United States states, territories and District of Columbia, students of divinity, persons in military or naval service, subjects of Germany and other aliens who have not taken their first papers, custom house clerks, workmen in arsenals and navy yards, persons in federal service, pilots in merchant marine and those with dependents, a married man with a family dependent, son of a dependent widow, brother of dependent orphan child under 16 years, those mentally deficient, those bound by membership with any religious sect, existing May 18, 1917 whose creed forbids participation in war.

Claims for exemption because of dependents can be made by the man himself, his wife or his dependents or by a third party who has personally investigated the case.

Certificates of exemption will not be permanent and they may be revoked at any time, as circumstances may arise.

B. & M. CLERKS FROM BOSTON TURN THE TABLES THIS TIME

After losing the annual game for four consecutive years, the Boston & Maine freight clerks from Boston reversed the tables Saturday afternoon, defeating the Maine Central clerks from Portland, 5 to 4, at the South Playgrounds.

Woodbury's wildness, F. Thompson's error and Myers' triple decided the game. A catch by Galvin resulting in a double play was the feature. Upward of three hundred accompanied the two teams here.

The game was called in the seventh to allow the Boston aggregation to catch their train. The score:

GUARD KILLED IN FALL FROM TRAIN

Private George Gravel of Co. M, 9th Regt., Found Near Bridge.

Newburyport, July 2.—Private George W. Gravel, aged 19, of Co. M, 9th Regiment, son of Charles Gravel of 16 Mammoth road, Lowell, was killed by a fall from a train a short distance east of Newburyport bridge, at an early hour yesterday morning. The body was found by private Edward Barton, one of the guards at the railroad bridge. It was examined by Asst. Medical Examiner Murphy of Amesbury and brought to Healy's undertaking rooms here, where it was prepared for burial, draped in an American flag and viewed by members of the company and friends.

It is stated that Gravel went to Portsmouth Saturday evening with two local young men and that they were in his company when the accident happened. Chief Taplin of Salisbury, in which town the death occurred, and Capt. Christian of the company are conducting an examination.

Gravel was born in Lowell. Saturday a message was received here that a sister, wife of Fred Siegel, also a member of M. company, was dying at her home in Lowell. Both Siegel and Gravel had been given a furlough for today that they might go to her bedside.

Gravel accompanied the 9th Regiment in the Mexican border and was highly esteemed. He is said to be the first member of the regiment to lose his life since the beginning of the Mexican trouble.

WAR REVENUE BILL REVISION IS ENDED

Radical Increases of Taxes on War Excess Profits of Corporations, Etc., Decided Upon.

Washington, July 1.—Revision of the $1,800,000,000 war tax bill passed by the house five weeks ago was completed by the senate finance committee. The measure virtually was rewritten and was reduced to $1,552,170,000, with no authorization of additional bonds. The final draft was sent to the printer last night and will be reported to the senate by Chairman Simmons early this week.

Income and excess profits will bear about two-thirds of the new tax burden under the revised bill—about $500,000,000—with a large share of the remainder secured from liquors and tobacco. Many house taxes were entirely eliminated by the committee and others added.

Radical increases of taxes on war excess profits of corporations, partnerships and individuals, decided upon yesterday enabled the committee to dispense with the suggestion made of additional bond issue of from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000. Senator Stone withdrew an amendment for a $500,000,000 issue.

While the bill falls short by about $600,000,000 of meeting the treasury estimate of war expenses next year, the committee decided that by issuing $125,000,000 of authorized but unsold Panama canal bonds the expenses can be met until congress reconvenes in December.

As finally drafted the much debated publishers' tax section proposes a 5 percent tax upon publishers' profits over $4000, yielding $7,600,000 revenue and an increase of a quarter of a cent a pound in second class postage rates yielding $3,000,000.

Excess profits due to the war under the revised bill would bear $730,000,000 in taxes graduated from 12 to 40 per cent according to the proportion of excess. This is an increase of $505,000,000 over which taxes under the present law, of which repeal is proposed and $300,000,000 more than was proposed by the house bill.

From income taxes $532,700,000 would be raised, $60,000,000 less than the house provided—the decrease being made entirely upon incomes of $40,000 annually and above—with the committee approving the house plan of allowing income tax exemptions to $1000 for single persons, $2000 for married persons, additional normal taxes of 2 per cent upon incomes up to $5000 and surtaxes graduated from 1 to 33 per cent upon larger incomes.

The committee also changed the plan of collecting income taxes from that of collection at the source, to accomplished direct payment.

A comparison of the estimated revenue from other sources under the revised bill and the house bill, respectively, follows:

Liquors, $155,000,000 against $151,000,000; tobacco, $56,000,000 against $58,200,000; freight transportation, $77,500,000, unchanged; passenger transportation, $37,500,000 against $75,000,000; automobiles, $40,000,000 against $68,000,000 (payable under the revised bill by pleasure car owners and not manufacturers); amusement admissions, $23,000,000 against $50,000,000; first class mail, $50,000,000 against $70,000,000 (by retaining the 1 cent increase for the first class mail and striking out the increase upon post-cards.)

The committee struck out entirely the house ten percent general tariff tax upon virtually all imports, estimated to raise $200,000,000. It substituted consumption taxes, totalling $36,000,000 and bearing more directly upon consumers, of half a cent a pound on sugar, two cents on coffee, five cents on tea and three cents on cocoa and substitutes.

All Spanish war stamp taxes would be virtually reimposed, the committee adding a new tax of one cent each on bank checks over $5. From stamp taxes $23,000,000 revenue was proposed under the house bill and $30,000,000 under the committee revision.

Other changes in the revised bill include a prohibitive tax to stop manufacture of distilled beverages, while taxes on other intoxicants are virtually doubled; elimination of house taxes of $5,000,000 on inheritances and $108,000,000 retroactive taxes upon 1916 incomes; repeal of the special 12 1-2 per cent tax on war institutions; repeal of the "drawback" re-export allowance given sugar refiners; extension of a parcel post package of a tax of one cent for each 25 cents paid for express transportation; elimination of the house taxes on consumers' electric lights, power and gas bills, all insurance, jewelry, club dues, fires and tubes, musical instruments, motion picture films and chewing gum.

House levies of five per cent upon gross sales of many manufactures were stricken out entirely and taxes on patent medicines, perfumery, cosmetics, prior war accommodations and soft drinks greatly reduced.

Believing a compromise on prohibition legislation will not stop consumption and revenue yield from distilled spirits, beer or wine, the committee made little change in the house liquor taxes.

It greatly increasing the tax levy on excess profits, the committee also provided for such taxation on corporations' undistributed surplus. That earned in 1917 will be allowed a general exemption of 20 per cent and that earned prior thereto will be taxed when distributed according to the revenue rates existing in the year when earned.

MUST SAVE STEEL FOR WAR PURPOSES

Washington, July 2.—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States last night sounded a warning to business men that steel is needed for war purposes in the construction of ships, railroad cars and locomotives, trucks and containers, and should be used for general business purposes only "when the requirement is unavoidable."

The warning was issued in cooperation with the Council of National Defense. It calls attention to the fact that "war demands for steel will increase, and that the utmost we can produce will be below the requirements of ourselves and our allies."

Lumber and concrete are strongly advocated instead of steel, and there is an intimation that unless a steel substitute is found some manufacturers may be obliged to curtail, or even suspend, operations during the war.

Waddell Catchings of New York, chairman of the committee which issued this "war bulletin," says:

"No substantial increase of steel production is anticipated. Therefore, imum production from existing facilities cannot be expected because transportation labor and material conditions will interfere with the full operation of plants. On the other hand, indications are that war demands will increase.

Lumber and concrete are strongly advocated instead of steel, and there is an intimation that unless a steel substitute is found some manufacturers may be obliged to curtail, or even suspend, operations during the war.

FORCE JEWELS FROM WOMAN AT REVOLVER POINT

(By Associated Press)

Boston, July 1.—The story of a sensational robbery at a Boston hotel a short time ago, when a young woman was forced to give up $1,700 worth of jewels at the point of a revolver, was revealed tonight by the police with the announcement from New York of the arrest of Dr. Joseph Horner.

Dr. Horner, the police allege, had been keeping company with Miss Madge Wilson for several years. Dining with her at a Boston hotel a short time ago, the police hold, he forced her with a loaded revolver to turn over to him jewels to the value of $1,700. Before the meat was concluded he pulled a revolver and told her to have her maid go to the hotel office and obtain her jewels from the clerk. The clerk on duty refused to give up the jewels without a written order from Miss Wilson.

This, the police claim, the doctor forced her to write again at the point of the gun. The maid returned shortly after with the jewels which the doctor demanded. He disappeared immediately after and was not located until his arrest at a New York hotel today when word was received in this city that he was being held on charge of larceny.

U. S. FEEDING GERMAN ARMY FOR MONTHS.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 1.—Evidence that Germany is existing from importing foodstuffs from the neutral countries of Europe is contained in a report to the United States from Great Britain as an aid to the American government in their proposed exports curtailment. According to the evidence submitted in the report Scandinavia and Holland are exporting fats to Germany in sufficient quantities to maintain 7,700,000 soldiers, the number of men engaged in fighting on the western front. The loss of funds value to the neutrals is being made up by imports by the neutrals from the United States. The German imports from these neutrals is sufficient, measured in calories, to sustain $2,500,000, according to the American standards.

Soldiers of the New Republic have taken the offensive in the first great drive since the revolution and the attack against the German positions on a front of eighteen and one-half miles is under way at Berezany, Galicia. The reports from Berlin admit the attack and state that the infantry drive was preceded by extensive artillery bombardments of several days which weak on the German positions. According to official reports the attack is directed against Berezany which is the key to Lemberg, the capital of Galicia.

The attack began southeast of Lemberg and the Russians are covering the movements of the infantry forces with heavy artillery bombardments and certain successes. The first attack was delivered by the Russians against the positions at Zyzyn, the Berlin office reporting that the battle is in progress from Zolota Lipa and the Narayinka. The German report said that the opening attack was repulsed with heavy casualties to the Russians.

Official reports state that the Russian artillery is hammering the German lines on a battle front of 175 miles beginning in the region of Stokholm in Volynia, and extending to Berezany.

British Make Gains.

North of the Somme the British forces have captured German first line trenches on a front of one and a half miles. During June the British official report states that 3,050 Germans, including 175 officers, were made prisoners. The British also report the capture of 67 guns for the month including two heavy guns, and a large quantity of other war materials.

The French and Germans are engaged in heavy artillery duels and several battles are in progress between Cerny and the Verdun section. East of Cerny the Germans launched a strong attack against the French which was repulsed. On the left bank of the Meuse severe fighting is taking place without reports as to change of positions.

German U-Boats Fired Upon

Yankee gunners are still active against the German submarines. Two U-boats were fired upon, according to yesterday's reports, by American gunners on an American liner bound from the United States to Great Britain, and the gunners report that the periscope of one was shattered. A third submarine was sighted but no shot was fired as the submarine sank from sight before the crew could load.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crosby of No. 23 Albee street, Oak Island Grove, Revere Beach, Mass., and the latter's brother, Henry Brown, had a narrow escape from serious, if not fatal injury, on Sunday morning when the automobile in which they were riding, turned turtle on the ocean boulevard near Hapgood Neck. The party were on their way to Rochester, N. H., to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Crosby's father. The accident was caused by the wish bone of the machine breaking and Mr. Crosby applied his emergency brake with the result that the car

WILL ATTEMPT RESCUE OF EXPLORATION PARTY

(By Associated Press)

New York, June 30.—The steam sailing vessel Neptune is ready to leave St. Johns, Newfoundland, to make the third attempt to bring back to civilization the members of the Crocker Land Expedition marooned in the Arctic. Captain Robert A. Bartlett, who accompanied Rear Admiral Peary to the Arctic, regarded as one of the most skillful of navigators of the frozen regions of the north is in command of the Neptune.

The departure of this, the third relief vessel to be sent to the rescue of the Crocker Land expedition makes one of the most costly expeditions of exploration. Two other vessels, the George H. Clegg and the Denmark, made ineffectual attempts to bring back the explorers who four years ago went in quest of the mysterious Crocker Land, which Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary believed he had seen in 1906.

The expedition was sent out under the joint auspices of the American Museum of Natural History, the American Geographical society and the University of Illinois, under the leadership of Donald B. MacMillan of Illinois. The ship of Donald B. MacMillan, what appeared to the eyes of the discoverer of the North Pole was declared by Mr. MacMillan to be merely a mirage and the party has looked for Crocker Land in vain.

The MacMillan party, meanwhile has been conducting explorations on its own account and has discovered six new islands, explored new lands, found extensive deposits of coal and other minerals and has gathered together a vast store of scientific knowledge. These scientists are proceeding with their scientific work as calmly as though they were not exposed to danger of starvation.

Dr. Harrington J. Hunt, the surgeon of the expedition, who a few days ago came back to this country after a thrilling journey of fourteen miles over the ice of Melville Bay, reported that unless help were sent to his companions they would be in dire extremity by August 1. The scant supplies were even then being rationed out to them. After midsummer they will be obliged to subsist as best they can upon the Eskimos. Walrus meat and caribou may possibly be obtained but they will be dependent largely upon the fortunes of the release. Dr. Hunt says that unless help is sent he fears fatality.

The Neptune, which will be soon on its way to Etah—the base of the Crocker Land Expedition, is a vessel especially well equipped for such a mission.

In addition to her regular stores, she is carrying eight tons of food for the Crocker Land party. It. Henry Fairfield Osborne, president of the American Museum of Natural History and chairman of the honorary committee of the expedition, said the other day that he considered the scientific results obtained by the expedition fully justified in its enormous cost. He expressed the hope that the general public would aid the institutions concerned in bearing the expense. George H. Sherwood, acting chairman of the committee-in-charge, says that he feels confident that barring accidents, the Neptune will be back with the MacMillan party in the early autumn and that the expedition will reach a triumphant close.

How many are the demands of civilization is shown in the manifest of the Neptune. The supplies which she is taking north include hundreds of items. Among some of the stores in the hold are 2,000 pounds of pork, 5 barrels of sugar, 5 crates of yellow meal, 4 cases of oatmeal, 5 cases of sliced pineapple, 2 cases of evaporated peaches, 150 pounds of butter, and a keg of sour pickles.

Dehydrated vegetables are especially useful in the farthest north and in the stores are bone-dry spinach, carrots, and such material. The source of nicotine is thoroughly appreciated in the land of Arctic nights and therefore in the consignment may be found smoking tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, and even cork pipes.

The children of the snows are also exceedingly fond of music and that is the reason that there is found in the cargo of the Neptune several phonographs with records bearing the liveliest and popular airs.

JOHN CARLL ELECTED COLONEL

At a meeting of the officers of the First Regiment, U. S. A., held at Exeter on Saturday Captain John S. Carll of this city was elected colonel to succeed Fred W. Sanborn of Exeter. Col. Sanborn had served two four year terms, had owing to increased private interests, declined a re-election. The selection of Col. Carll to head the First Regiment is particularly pleasing to local Pythians, as it was through his untiring labors as Captain of Lucullus Company that this branch of the order in this city was made to rank with the best companies in the state in both numbers and efficiency.

BOXING NOTES

There hasn't been a bout arranged by the Armory A. A. in a long time that has more class to it than the one between Willie Jackson and Eddie Wallace which will be staged at the big Boston Arena next Tuesday evening. The management look forward to the largest crowd of the season for there is every indication that it will be a whirlwind affair.

That the men are evenly matched is made clear by the fact that they boxed ten ferocious rounds to a dead heat. Charlie Harvey, Manager of Wallace declares that his boxer had a good margin at the finish of the fight and Harvey is backed up by some of the newspaper reports. All of these agreed that it was one of the fastest and hardest fought lightweight battles that New York has staged in many years.

It will be Wallace's debut in Boston. A glance at his record reveals the fact that he has met all of the best men in his class and has come through without a single black mark. He is essentially a fighter but has wonderful speed, can punch straight and hard and is a glutton for punishment. Wallace is fairly clever but relies on his speed and punching power to carry him through.

Jackson made a wonderful impression on Boston fans the night that he defeated Ohio Smiler. Any of the fans who might have had the impression that Jackson's knee of Johnny Dundee was a fluke went away satisfied that Willie could beat the wonderful Italian any time they met again. He is a great lightning machine in action with a powerful wallop.

No matter what angle one views it from, they must come to the conclusion that the Wallace-Jackson fight will be a very fast, hard bout. Jackson with all his cleverness loves to mix it and that means it will be a hard fight for that is just where Wallace lives.

MISER FEARED POVERTY.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 1.—Sixteen Nilsson of Malmo, 73 years old, hanged himself for fear that he might die in poverty. More than 1,500 crowns were found in his pockets, together with a bankbook showing deposits exceeding 15,000 crowns. He had for years lived principally on bread and water. An elder sister killed herself some years ago for the same motive. She was at the time worth about 70,000 crowns.

War Orders Rushed

THE magnitude of the great war in which we are now engaged, has necessitated unusual preparation. Mighty forces are marshalling, great stores of food and munitions are being gathered, and the energies of the nation are focused on problems incident to the war.

At the very beginning of the war, the whole Bell System was placed at the disposal of the Government. No nation has entered the war with such a comprehensive and efficient telephone service.

As our military establishment grows, the demands of the Government upon the Bell System are bound to increase and always they must take precedence over all others.

Increased activity in commerce and industry as the result of larger demands for food and munitions from our allies and for our own use, means more need of telephone service by private business.

But private business must always be subordinated to the Government service.

Each individual American will co-operate in this patriotic service, and submit cheerfully to inconvenience or delay in his telephone service, when he understands how vital it is that Government service shall take precedence over all else.

GERMANY'S ANTI-JAPANESE PROPAGANDA IN AMERICA

By Ethel Watts Mumford of the Vigilantes.

(Mrs. Mumford is a member of the American Oriental Society and knows Japan at first hand. She is the author of a number of novels, plays and books of poems.)

Do you realize that Germany has spent millions upon millions to create ill feeling between the United States and Japan? Not only of recent years has this been the case. Germany's efforts to make America fight her battle goes back a decade. Ten years ago her aim was to force a war between her two greatest trade rivals in the Pacific—why not? It would have cleared the seas for her. It would have destroyed the commerce of two great nations, and left Germany the unquestioned arbiter of trade in the whole Orient, with England a bad second, to be reckoned with later. Twelve years ago I traveled with an alleged "Scientific Expedition" of German professors, all of them military experts, on their way up from Central America and out to the Hawaiian Islands their ultimate destination Japan.

In California their activities consisted of a newspaper campaign of interviews, all of them fermenting anti-Japanese feeling. There was a phenomenal outflow of money. All that was wanted was publicity and more publicity.

It was from this same group of persons scientists that the fairy tale of "sixty thousand Japanese soldiers, employed as laborers in Hawaii, ready to rise and seize the islands at a moment's notice" emanated. It was started in the German Clubs of Honolulu and sent broadcast back to the United States where, most unfortunately and most foolishly, it was believed. I was in Hawaii during the entire year when this German propaganda was sweeping over America, and I have good cause to know its source and its intent. One member of the expedition, who was a constant visitor at our house, frequently expressed his hope of "awakening America to her yellow peril," and in a second breath would launch on glowing descriptions of Germany's future in the Pacific. That scientific expedition was but one of thousands that succeeded each other, all working for the same end.

In Central and South America the German clubs were, and I have no doubt are today, nothing more nor less than military centers. Tenton activities in California are unceasing, and they very nearly accomplished their purpose. If it had not been for the vision of the Chief Executive and the unyielding forbearance of Japan, the heated public might have bought Germany's supremacy at the cost of their own gold and blood.

Are you anti-Japanese? Are you a a moment and ask yourself why? Recall this, Japan does not want our Pacific Islands. They are too far away and would serve no purpose of expansion. Her great coast line, her broken formation, require Japan's navy for defense. Her natural outlet for population is north, through Korea, which she controls, to the great grain fields of Manchuria, which she needs and eventually will have, and which Germany was determined she should not possess, for it brought her too close to China upon which Germany had cast more than a longing eye. Germany has been busy with her anti-American work in Japan also, but Japan and the majority of the Japanese realized it. Unfortunately the American public has let itself be duped. Many otherwise well-informed people have allowed the insidious seeds of suspicion to germinate—not realizing that the accent is on the German, Are you anti-Japanese? I repeat—stop a moment and ask yourself why?

Pass the Food Control Bill.

It looks now as if the food control plan so earnestly urged by President Wilson would finally be adopted, notwithstanding the feeling on the part of many that there is more or less danger in placing in the hands of any man or set of men such tremendous power as is provided for by the bill. In reality the legislation proposed is utterly un-American, and the only justification for such a step is the fact that the country is at war and that in war time certain acts are necessary which would not be contemplated or tolerated in time of peace.

This paper is disposed to support the food control bill, with the change in the prohibition clause, in spite of the autocratic power it confers, because of certain facts that have been made plain in the discussion of the subject. As has before been pointed out in this column, the law does not contemplate placing the people on rations, as has been done in some foreign countries, nor is it designed to "take crops from producers without fair and even generous remuneration. The farmers are not going to be robbed, and what the president and his supporters are aiming at is to insure consumers against robbery at the hands of speculators who place themselves between producers and consumers and rob both through processes which the country is all too painfully familiar. Herbert C. Hoover, who is to be at the head of this department if it is established, told the United States Senate the other day that in the last five months speculators in flour alone have taken $50,000,000 a month out of the people of the country. If this is true none will question that it is time the practice should be stopped and its further continuance rendered impossible.

It is to be hoped that if the food control bill is passed the law will be more effectual than some that are now on the statute books. For years the country has had the much talked of Sherman law, designed to protect the people against combinations in restraint of trade and just such hardships as they have been suffering of late, and the protection has not been forthcoming. If there is some skepticism regarding the adequacy of the proposed law it is not to be wondered at in view of all the conditions. Since the beginning of the trouble from which the country is suffering there have been numberless investigations and it has been shown that the speculators have the people by the throat, and now it is claimed that the present laws cannot reach them.

This is somewhat discouraging, but the chances are that if the food control bill is passed there will be a different condition of things. It is a war measure, the country is at war and the people are in a mood to back to the limit any and all efforts to relegate the food sharks to the rear and keep them there. In view of all the facts it is to be hoped the food control bill will be passed, and that without needless delay.

A Massachusetts boy has received extended notice because he saved $2 for the Red Cross by walking to school and saving car fare until he had walked a distance of 200 miles. His motive was not to be questioned, but how about his judgment? Could he not have earned $2 quicker and easier than by walking 200 miles? However he may stand in his other studies, this school boy is evidently not well up on the subject of conservation.

Phillips Exeter Academy received a share of the commencement cheer in the form of a gift of $200,000 from two members of the alumni, the money to be used in defraying the general expenses of the school. Such gifts have a double value. They are not only helpful in a material way, but they bear testimony to the regard of former students, which is worth even more than money.

It is not pleasant to read that the shipbuilders in the yards along the Atlantic coast are preparing for a strike. Such action indicates that patriotism in some quarters is not at as high a pitch as it ought to be. This is no time for strikes in shipbuilding or any other industry, and there will be little sympathy with those who engage in them.

Judge Heppenheimer of New Jersey had a narrow escape the other day from being shot while riding on a train in that state. A rifle bullet crashed through the window near which he sat and embedded itself in the seat behind him. Was the judge's name responsible for the near-tragedy?

It is about time for those suffrage picketers in Washington to fold up their banners and go home. If their performances have any effect whatever on their cause they can only injure it. This is no time for sideshows at the national capital, in Congress or out of it.

Newport, R. I., officials have vociferously denied Secretary Daniels' charge that the navy men there were exposed to bad influences, but it is to be noticed that they are now busily closing up "resorts." It looks as if the secretary was on the right track.

From the Exchanges

The Twelve Hour Man's Chance

(From the Columbia, S. C., State)

"If the process of reducing the length of the working day in manufacturing and transportation and of conferring special benefits and privileges on their organization continues, who will remain on the farm and work 12 or 14 hours a day, taking care of himself and receiving no special favors? That in substance, is the inquiry addressed by a farmer to a newspaper.

The inquiry is pertinent but the implication that it contains is not so convincing as it seems. When the law limits the hours of a man's industry it also limits his achievement. If the hours, or minutes, of toil in the factories be made too short and the conditions of the toil too easy, the rewards of the man who demands and retains the fullest liberty to exert his powers, to work from sunrise to sunset in the fields, for example, will be multiplied. The weaker brethren will in companies seek employment under bosses. They will be well fed and well housed and will be protected from danger of working themselves to a frazzle—but the strong man will own the land. In the struggle some of the strong men will perish but out of it will emerge the class that rules. The softer the life in the city and manufacturing towns, the more the soft people will flock to them—and the higher the prices the rugged farmers will obtain for feeding them. This "high cost of living" of the present is serving to intensify the sturdy farmer as a ruling class in this country. It is increasing the land owners; it is making those laboring men that claim to be hedged about by law, lest they do too much subordinate to the farmers.

To be a thoroughgoing farmer requires more grit than does any other calling. The farmer demands and enjoys freedom to work the land from his bones, if need be, but when he wins he has something more than a full stomach to sleep on and a quarter to spend at the picture show. A slice of the "earth" is his "and all that's in it."

The man that rebels against the taking away of his liberty to work has a future.

The eight hour day is an excellent thing for the eight hour a day man. The eight hour a day man has no right to complain when the twelve or fourteen hour a day man gets possession of the land. In this country the opportunities for those whose appetites for work are never satisfied remain unexhausted.

Just Suppose That They Should

(From the North Manchester, Ind. News.)

In these days we hear a great deal about what should be done to shield the young and rising generation from the pitfalls that line life's path. This or that means is suggested and many of the ways suggested have considerable value in them, but so far none have been wide sweeping enough, to their effects to make conditions so very much better than they were when dad was a boy. But suppose that all fathers, and all men past thirty—after they have reached the years of discretion—should refrain from liquor, tobacco, gambling, lying, stealing and racing after strange women—well, the boy problem would be solved right away, for the boys would have little desire to do what their elders did not do. And of course when a man quit lying that would naturally bar him, from telling what a device of a fellow he used to be when he was a boy. There are exceptions of course, but the average boy or girl is about as good as his mother or father is or has been. Better parents, and better men and women generally will make better boys and girls.

Are You the Man?

(From the Memphis Commercial Appeal.)

There is a man in this world who has let slip by the wonderful chances of his life. Are you the man? There is a man whose fortune has passed and has placed before him, smiling at the time and opening, the way to a future of great promise, and the man with masculine overconfidence has answered in his heart, "What is the use; there is plenty of time; I'll have a good time first." Are you the man?

There is a man in this world who has built his dream castle that he could have made permanent, but for physical abuse and dissipation, who has later on sadly watched them crumble, because of his own moral negligence; through his lack of appreciation of the chances in his budding life that his good God gave him. Are you the man?

Are you the man who, after wrecking your life, goes to a physician and asks the time-worn question, "Doctor, can you fix me up?"

Are you the man who receives the inevitable answer, "No, I cannot and neither can Nature?"

We—that is, most of us—too frequently go far into Nature's debt. When we do we must pay. Nature waits just so long. In time it is possible for you to make a good, sound man of yourself, but you will never be the man you used to be.

The man who has abused himself and his opportunities will realize his mistake sooner or later and will see the handwriting on the wall, "Glo slow."

This is the prophetic warning that every man must some day read and understand, and once again we ask: "Are you the man?"

It is merely a matter of conscience and a retributive thought, but if you are the man, then you must pay.

The law of life exacts this payment. A gray road will stretch before you. You will become known among your companions as a plodder. You have spent and wasted your vitality! You will become appalled with the haunting thought of your squandered yesterday. You will recognize what you might have done and what you did not do. You will know that the best in you has been burned out. You are not the man you used to be, because of your own reckless way of living, and once more you are impelled to ask: "Are you the man?"

Our Lack of Linguists

(From the Chicago Journal)

The Federal Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is having a hard time finding young Americans who know enough of foreign languages to be useful. Very few applicants to the bureau have a practical knowledge of French, fewer still of Spanish, and it is not of record that any native-born American in captivity has a good understanding of Russian.

French is not only the language of diplomacy and the official speech of a great republic and its colonial dominions, but the storehouse of the only modern literature which is a fair rival to that of the English-speaking peoples. Spanish is the commercial key to all the area of our own western continent. Russian introduces its legacy to another great literature, and to an undeveloped empire of 170,000,000 as well. Yet, instead of learning some of these tongues our young men wrangle about the tariff or job societies which pass resolutions demanding the development of foreign trade.

Verily, our indifference to the commercial and cultural values of other languages is amazing—and expensive. It retards our business progress and it is a yet more serious obstacle to our understanding of the complex work in which national life is cast.

A Trifle Extravagant

(From the Christian Science Monitor)

Somebody recently accused the publicity department of the state of Arkansas of putting things pretty strong by. One of the assertions made was that if all the rice in Arkansas were collected, it would take the Grand Canyon of the Colorado to store it. Another was that if all the chickens in Arkansas were one chicken, it would straddle the Rocky mountains like a colossus and shake the rings from Saturn with its crow. The publicity department took the reproach good-naturedly, promised to be more moderate hereafter, and added "We feel constrained to say, however, that if all the donkeys in Arkansas were one donkey, he could stand with one forefoot on Mexico, the other on Canada and with his hind feet kick the man out of the moon." There is here a welcome relief from dry statistics, but the Arkansas publicity department might strive a little harder to be conservative.

Writers Live Long

(From the St. Joseph, Mo., Gazette)

Anyway, the people who write for a living have the latter spread out through a great number of years. They who take the pen do not as a rule perish short of ripe old age. The business of writing should be a "preferred risk" with the insurance companies. March 1 was the eightieth birthday anniversary of William Dean Howells. He is " hale and hearty" as the New Englanders would put it. Still, Howells is not yet at the age reached by some of our other famous American men and women of letters. Bancroft lived to be 91. Whittier and Oliver Wendell Holmes were 85 at their death, and Mrs. Stowe also reached that age. Emerson died at 75, Longfellow at 75 and Lowell at 72.

The average writer is an individual who looks much at his inner self and much at the life about him. He quietly but constantly studies humanity, and is thus always in intimate touch with the people of the world. He is more prone than the average person to study also the people of the past—to speculate concerning those who are to come. Thus the writer lives in a wonderfully enlarged sphere at all times—one as boundless of limits as creation itself.

It must contribute to the welfare of the physical man to thus expand the conscious mind; to send the thoughts hither and yon in quest of interests of humanity which may be as widely separated as the points of the compass. Exercise is an aid to the muscles, and develops all tissues. Elasticity of inner thinking—but always in harmony with clear-cut purpose—may not only be capable of broadening and deepening and strengthening the intellect, but also the body. Thus are the years of the student of humanity made longer through his work.

Then, too, these aged authors have come to great maturity quite strong in mind. Their world-wide interest kept their brains, virile and well poised. It is not always possible to retain intellectual strength by sheer determination not to grow old in mentality, but one's purpose to be always concerned with large themes can do much toward leading off senility, which insures itself but little with ought that is not personal and inconsequential. Small things decay more quickly than do the mighty creations. Our concern over them will endure contemporaneously. If we are happily interested in eternal principles and those conditions which they bring about, we shall not soon succumb to the discouragement and inertia which must come to the man whose life is wrapped up merely in matters of transitory duration.

RAILROAD WINS OUT IN TAX CASE

Court Upholds Appeal of B. & M. in Concord Assessment Case.

The city of Concord is a big loser by a decision handed down by the supreme court Saturday in a tax appeal case. The action was brought by the Boston and Maine railroad as appellant from the tax assessed by the city of Concord on material used by the railroad company in building and repairing the equipment of the Concord shops. The company complains that the city had no right to assess this tax on material as it would be taxed under the railroad law. The amount involved is a considerable sum, as the assessment was upon the property valued at between $300,000 and $400,000. The railroad company also appealed from the tax assessed by the state in 1916 on the railroad's property. This appeal is dismissed and the state tax stands.

NAVY NOTES

Made up of Seven Cars

The workmen's train from Portsmouth to the local yard is now made up of seven cars, carrying over 600 passengers.

Band Taking a Rest

The members of the navy band have been granted a furlough of fifteen days.

Three Out of Eight

Out of eight young men who appeared at the Portsmouth navy yard recruiting office for enlistment in the regular service only three were accepted.

Special Train for Reserves

The men of the naval reserve who have been quartered on the U. S. S. Tappan and who were ordered away on Saturday, left on a special train for Boston this noon.

Watch for the Movies

The movie pictures of the men in the local navy yard training camp were released on June 30 and will soon be seen on the screen.

NORTH KITTERY

North Kittery, July 2.—The building committee of the People's Society received the first load of lumber for the new building, Saturday afternoon, and they started at once to make preparations for the foundations. The efficiency of E. J. York and Company is appreciated by the society as the lumber was ordered Friday night and delivered on the lot in part the next afternoon.

Fifteen silver stars were awarded to members of the Sunday school by its superintendent, Mr. Arthur M. Pettigrew, Sunday, July 1.

There will be a large attendance at the concert to be given by the Lyric Quartet of Portsmouth, in the Pernald schoolhouse, this evening under the auspices of the entertainment committee of the People's Society, also a talk on the Red Cross work will be given and the final preparations for the parade will be made.

Hon. James Philbrook of Kittery has very kindly consented to give an address at the field day exercises on the Fourth of July, under the auspices of the People's Society.

Mr. George Woodward of Dorchester, Mass., is visiting Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Brooks. Mr. Woodward expects to be joined by his mother in a few days.

Miss Margaret Bussler of Gonic, after passing the week with Miss Marion W. Pettigrew of North Kittery, has returned home.

WATCHING TRAFFIC ON MIDDLE STREET

Railroad Keeping Record of Vehicles Along That Highway.

Today the Boston and Maine railroad had three men stationed on Middle street keeping a record of all traffic passing on that highway which is likely to be used in the hearing before the Public Service Commission later on the petition of the city to compel the railroad to make repairs of tracks and roadbed. If the railroad wants a real line on traffic there, the men should be posted there on Sunday.

PREPARES WAR LITANY

Bishop Parker Asks People to Live More Austerely to be Able to Give More.

Concord, N. H., July 2.—Bishop Edward Melville Parker of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire has drawn up a war litany for church and individual use. In a pastoral letter he asks for pastoral gifts of money and of personal service to meet the needs of the war and says:

"One way in which we may all be able to give more generously will be to live more austerely, to avoid needless luxuries which are not wicked but without which we can get along, to watch against the careless waste for which American life is proverbial, to practice New England thrift and for a time we may give, rather than we may save."

"Our church has never insisted on total abstinence from alcoholic liquors as a condition of church fellowship but I have come to feel personally that I ought, as a very small contribution to the discipline of which Americans must learn to submit in these trying days, to follow those who have resolved not to touch alcohol in social ways at least during the duration of the war; I wish that more and more of our people could go with their bishop in this matter, as pledged abstainers from even the very small use of alcohol that we have hitherto known."

THE LIBERTY POLE

All contributors in past years for the purchase and erection of the Liberty pole and flags at the Liberty Bridge, Water street, Portsmouth, and thereby members of the Liberty Pole association, the city government, the owners of the adjacent premises, and all patriotic citizens of Portsmouth are requested to meet at the Liberty pole on Wednesday, July 4, 1917, at ten o'clock in the forenoon to honor our Revolutionary heroes, to recall the patriotic memories of Liberty Bridge, for 150 years, as there inscribed on shield and pole, and to consult with the president and directors of the Liberty Pole association at their then annual meeting as to reclaiming, improving and beautifying a small piece of land near and around the pole; and especially to take measures for the early removal of the old small building, shop or shed, closely adjoining the Liberty pole, endangering it in case of fire, and which, in its present condition in this year of a world-wide war for liberty, freedom and civilization, disgraces not only the association but the city government and every citizen of Portsmouth.

JOHN PENDER, President.
JOSEPH FOSTER, Secretary of the Liberty Pole Association.

ALL IN THE DIALECT

A New Zealand man vouches for the truth of the following story:

Dick Seddon was of Lancashire origin, and when he died the Lancastrian society in New Zealand sent a wreath with the following inscription: "I have gone whoam." The journalist who reported the funeral evidently did not come from Lancashire and consequently was somewhat puzzled by the wording and after thinking hard, concluded that some one had blundered. His report read:

"The Lancastrian society sent a beautiful wreath bearing the inscription: I have gone who in I."

A NEW DEPARTMENT

Will Be Organized Under the State Board of Charities.

A department of child welfare will soon be started under the state Board of Charities of which a woman will be appointed to have charge of the same. It is understood that the appointment may come to this city.

DOVER'S PARADE

Dover will celebrate the Fourth with a big parade in the morning. The fire department, social and secret organizations will be seen in the line of march. Floats and other features will also be in line.

BARRED FROM LIGHTHOUSES

Visitors and summer residents in this section miss one privilege this year as they cannot inspect lighthouses. By a recent order the keepers are instructed to allow no one on the premises.

GONE TO SUMMER CAMP

Roger St. Clair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira St. Clair, has entered Camp Uthmanook at Uxley, Me., for the summer.

RAND—TREFETHEN.

The marriage of N. Sherman Rand and Marcia Trefethen, daughter of Charles E. Trefethen of Rye, took place at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening last. Rev. Percy W. Caswell performing the ceremony. The bride presented a most attractive appearance in a handsome blue suit with a white hat to match. The bride is a highly estimable young lady and the groom is equally well known and popular among his associates. Countless wishes were expressed that their future life may be full of happiness and prosperity. They will reside at the groom's home.

Fourth of July next, Wednesday and the observance should be safe and sane.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING OF SON BY HIS FATHER

Walden Adams of York Heights is at York Hospital in a Serious Condition as the Result of a Gun Shot Wound

As the result of an accidental shooting, Walden Adams, aged 21 years, of York Heights is at the York hospital on the dangerous list and the attending physician is in doubt as to the outcome of his injuries. The particulars of the affair as told to the authorities and to Dr. E. C. Cook the attending physician, are as follows: On Sunday morning young Adams was in his room dressing, while in an adjoining room his father, Thomas Adams, was engaged in loading a shot gun which he was intending to loan to a neighbor.

In some manner, not clear to the older man, the gun was accidentally discharged. Only a beaver board partition separated the two rooms and the charge of shot passed through this and entered the back of young Adams' right shoulder, and in the back of the head. He bled freely and was unconscious and weak from the loss of blood when Dr. Cook arrived. He was immediately taken to the hospital. Up to Sunday evening he had not regained consciousness and the attending physician was uncertain as to the outcome from his injuries.

SEVEN YEAR OLD BOY
HAS NARROW ESCAPE
FROM A WATERY GRAVE

Herbert, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howell Pridham of State street had an exceedingly close call from drowning in the Piscataqua river on Sunday afternoon.

The little fellow was playing on Walker's wharf at the foot of State street and going to near the edge, fell into the river. The little fellow had gone down for the third time when Christopher Kellenbeck, who had been attracted to the scene by the little fellow's cries for help, dove into the river and brought him ashore. The little fellow was unconscious but one of the bluejackets from the navy yard who had been attracted to the scene applied first aid and took the boy to his home where he was finally resuscitated. Dr. Fred S. Towle who was summoned, found on his arrival that there was nothing for him to do so well had the bluejacket performed his work. Both Mr. Kellenbeck and the sailor, whose name we are unable to learn, are deserving of the greatest of praise for the part they took in the rescue.

EXETER

Exeter, July 2—Exeter will probably have the quietest Fourth in its history as all fire works and celebrations will be eliminated. The police have issued orders not to sell any fireworks or explosives of any kind, and the usual band concerts and horribles on Depot square will not take place this year. Local people will probably for the most part go to Hampton Beach where the customary festivities will be held.

The new auto chemical for the west end for which appropriations were made at the last town meeting, has arrived, and is now stored in the Main street house house. The town is now supplied with two auto chemicals.

Walter Moses, manager of the Exeter Opera house Saturday commenced his duties as manager of the Strand at Hampton Beach for the Goldstein brothers, proprietors of the Exeter opera house.

Misses Catherine and Pearl Laven- gile, Christine Mitchell, Alice Shinnick and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Shinnick compose a cottage party which will spend the week and Fourth at Hampton Beach at the Shinnick cottage.

No services were held at either the First Congregational or the Unitarian churches which will be closed during the month of July.

The district meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps comprising the corps of Exeter, Deerfield, Raymond, Candia, Epping, Raymond, Danville, Seabrook, Hampton, Portsmouth and Newmarket were held Saturday afternoon in Red Men's hall. Representatives of all of the corps were present. The meeting was called to order at 12:30. The ritualistic work was exemplified by Corps 36. Among the guests present was the president, Mrs. Nettie M. C. White and deputy inspector Mrs. Grace Tripp Hayden.

MARRIED A MAN WITH WIFE LIVING

Rather Queer Case to Be Heard by the Maine Court.

One of the most unusual cases which has come to the attention of the courts in the state of Maine is in order for trial at the September term of court to be held at Alfred in which Lillian M. Squire of Manchester, N. H., is the plaintiff and Harry R. Lord of Berwick, the defendant, with Edward F. Gowell, administrator, of Berwick, named as trustee.

The plaintiff alleges in her declaration that on the 24th of February, 1917, she was married to the defendant, and that thereafter she lived with him, believing that she was his lawful wife; that in fact, said defendant was on the 27th day of December 1916, less than two months previous to his marriage to her, married to another, and that the first wife, was indeed, still his lawful wife on the day of his marriage to the plaintiff.

By this alleged misrepresentation and deception the plaintiff states that she was injured, suffering greatly in peace of mind, and she asks damages to the amount of $10,000.

ARMY Y. M. C. A.
PLANS TO EXPAND
WORK AT FORT

The Army Y. M. C. A. at Fort Constitution has begun to expand its work considerably. A small tent has been assigned for Y. M. C. A. use at Fort Porter by Captain Grace who is in command of the men stationed there, with reading and writing facilities, and the Association has equipped it games, etc. A phonograph has been loaned to the company and its music helps to drown out the hum of the numerous mosquitoes which infest the post.

Since the 1st Company New Hampshire Coast Artillery has arrived at Fort Stark the Association plans to provide similar facilities for them, and it is hoped that a tent will be set up there in the near future.

Saturday night the regular moving picture show was held, with a live-reel feature, Francis X. Bushman in "The Wild Between." There was a large audience of the soldiers, who thoroughly enjoyed the military picture.

Sunday morning Mr. Charles D. Coe of Boston was the speaker at the service in the tent. Chester I. Campbell of Boston was also present and spoke briefly. A number of the soldiers attended the fellowship luncheon at the Portsmouth Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening.

Fourth of July morning there will be a field day with the usual sports, jumps and other events. Teams from the medical corps will compete in a stretcher race and each company will be represented by a relay team.

MORE MEN ARE NEEDED TO MAN
THE CHASERS.

New York, July 1.—The commandant of the second naval district, which lies between New London, Conn., and Cha-

25 YEARS UNDER
ONE MANAGEMENT

The Sparks World Famous Shows and Trained Animal Exhibition Coming—A Vast Vision of Beauty and Splendor.

So familiar has the public become with the fact of the enormous growth attained each year by the Sparks World's Famous Shows that the return of this great American show is awaited with much interest, knowing full well that there is always something new to be seen each visit.

In fact, words fail to do justice to this wonderful aggregation of acrobats, celebrities, hippodrome spectacles and animal features. This season they have come together from all corners of the earth to make this the most complete exhibition of its kind ever attempted.

Every day at 12 o'clock noon the grandest, rarest and most complete free street pageant ever seen, a fortune invested in wardrobe, trappings, and accessories—will pass through the principal business streets, and cages and tableaux in endless variety, gorgeous floats, fierce wild animals, ponderous elephants and stately camels will swing past to the martial music of four brass bands, musical wagons and the soul stirring callopes.

Notwithstanding previous enlargements, the additions that have been added to the show for this season are far greater than ever before attempted and make this beyond all doubt the most noteworthy amusement achievement of the century, keeping ever in mind the three chief watchwords—magnitude, excellence and exclusiveness. At the Bennett street grounds on Tuesday, July 3.

NEW HAMPSHIRE WEEKLY
PUBLISHERS END MEETING

Wolfeboro, N. H., July 2.—The annual meeting and outing of the New Hampshire Weekly Publishers' Association, which has been going on since Friday, closed yesterday. The members with their wives had an automobile trip and outing yesterday at Osprey Park at Tuftonboro as the guests of Thomas Plant. Libby's Museum at North Wolfeboro was visited and the party was entertained by Representative Libby.

Refreshments were served at the park and a supper at a hotel on their return here.

Most of the members left by automobiles for their homes late last night and those who remained will leave today.

WOULD MAKE THE ALLIANCE PERMANENT

(By Associated Press)

Tokio, July 1.—(Correspondence).—“The Anglo-Japanese alliance is the will of Heaven as well as the work of man,” was the epigrammatic phrase in a message which Premier Count Terauchi recently issued on the subject of the relations between Japan and Great Britain. With Viscount Ichiro Motono, Japan's Foreign Minister, and others, Count Terauchi sent a communication to “The New East,” a monthly review published by British residents at Tokio.

The official Japanese contributors emphasize their desire to make the Anglo-Japanese alliance a permanent agreement. Count Terauchi said that the alliance was the natural outcome of the sincere desire of the high contracting parties to guarantee permanently the peace of the East. “Its indisputable benefits in the past are already clear,” he wrote. And he added: “It is destined to play even a greater part in the future. The interests of Great Britain and Japan are never conflicting and never will conflict.”

Viscount Motono revealed several aspects of the history of the alliance. “We must admit,” he said, “that had it not been for our British alliance we should have encountered the greatest difficulties in the prosecution of our war with Russia. During that war Great Britain did us innumerable services, still little known to the general public. Great Britain probably would not have been able to make the agreement she signed with Russia had it not been for her Japanese alliance. I cannot say whether the authors of the Anglo-Japanese alliance had in mind the possibility of a general conflagration between the great European powers when they signed the treaty. But the fact remains that at the present moment the alliance is playing a most important part in the great war.”

The Minister was firm in the opinion that the alliance would last long after the war. From Japan's point of view the maintenance of the balance of power in the Far East was absolutely necessary. Japan and Great Britain, he wrote, had immense common interests in Asia that must be protected. Whatever contingencies the future might have in store, the close unity of Japan and Great Britain was, in the minister's opinion, an indispensable condition for the maintenance of order and peace in the Far East; as much as for the effective protection of Japan's rights and interests. He concluded: “As long as Japan and Great Britain are united by a true and loyal alliance we need have no fears for the future.”

“THE PRESENT URGENT CALL”

Our national standard, the ensign of our country, the Stars and Stripes, calls, as the voice of our Government, upon each and all for service. Our flag—it is well to love it, to revere it, not the material of which it is composed, no; but the sentiment it breathes; the memories it revives of deeds of greatness done under its broad folds in the past. Our country is represented by the flag. What is our country? Is it only the lands, houses and homes we enjoy? No; it is more than these. It is the power, subject to God, that makes our homes possible and secure; that gives value to the land, and ensures to rightful owners of property, peaceable possession and enjoyment. Our flag speaks of the laws by which we are governed, and under which we find protection; it speaks to us of the sacrifices made that we might enjoy the blessings of home, freedom of worship, freedom of speech and freedom of travel, limited only by the point where excess or license might be injurious to others. What has made possible the significance of our flag? First, the desire of our forefathers that this country might be a heritage to future generations, free from foreign control, privileged to carry on its own business for the good of the people. These determined forefathers of ours did not stop at desiring, but acted. “The Boston Tea-party,” “The Boston Massacre,” Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill were, in reality, the declarations of the sturdy sons and daughters of the thirteen colonies that they would have a government of their own, no matter what the cost. God gave us free will, and with it the privilege of making and enforcing laws for our own government, not inconsistent with His. The privilege necessarily was delegated to representatives: legislative, executive and judicial, in their different appointments. So we have a representative form of government. Shall we learn lessons from the past? And from whom and what?

We should, as we may, learn many and invaluable lessons from the founders and defenders of our country; the men who fought the battles of the Revolution in Council chambers, as well as on the battlefields. Why did our forefathers fight the battles of the war of 1776? Because they had a vision reaching into the future, and felt they owed posterity something. We think of men like Carroll of Carrollton, Adams, Hancock, Jefferson, Franklin, Sherman and Livingston, men of wealth for those days; men also well known to the British authorities, signing the Declaration of Independence. They well knew their signatures on that instrument branded them as traitors; they also knew how Great Britain punished treason. Defeat of their cause meant confiscation of property; probably death to some; disgrace to their families; and yet with a courage and devotion from which they declared their determination to cast their all on the altar of their country—a lesson to us of patriotism of the holy and sublime kind. All heroes do not stand upon the battlefields. These men all took active part in the war which followed, but anticipated the war, by bravery equal to any ever displayed. Think of the devotion, sacrifices and suffering of the men and women of those terrible years in the last quarter of the 18th century. Let us recall one episode—The winter of 1778 when Washington and his forces, including the brave Lafayette, spent at Valley Forge; poorly clad, half starved the Continental army bravely bore it all for sake of country. It is said the soldiers marked the ice and snow with blood, as their feet were lacerated by coming in contact with ice and frozen ground. Such sacrifices made possible our country of today. We might think of sacrifices of the war of 1812—the last war that actually touched New England; and of the sacrifices greater still made by the noble men and women of 61-65, who, by their brave and unselfish devotion, preserved the union intact, and opened up the way to our present standing, as the greatest nation on the earth, composed of 48 states and 104,000,000 of people.

Now we are called to make a sacrifice; shall I call it such? Rather is it not a privilege to be invited to help the brave soldiers and sailors of France, England and Italy, that have saved us thus far from the murderous attacks of an unquitting foe, on our own land and homes? I am not seeking recruits for army or navy; not asking money; but at request of Herbert Hoover, who has been appointed by the President to act as Food Commissioner—the man who saved Belgium from starvation—I am pleading with young and old to help in the present crisis, help in the conserving of the food supply by stopping waste in the homes. Mr. Hoover tells us (and he knows whereof he speaks) that the waste of food amounts to at least $50 a year for each and every family in America. The waste of a single slice of bread in each home, means the daily waste of a million loaves of bread. He believes if every one does his or her part in preventing waste, there will be enough to live on economically ourselves, and supply the lack of our allies who are bearing the brunt of the battle. Will you each help? It is not the waste of money, but the waste of the necessities of life, the amount of which money or man's energy cannot increase. I have heard it said the children do not like rye or Graham bread; they don't like it. It will be a good lesson for the children to learn a little thought for others; a little unselfishness; good for them to know the beauty of sacrifice for others.

Remember that in this war we are not fighting the battles of England, France or Russia, but that uniting with them; we are really fighting for our own country, and its continued independence. Shall we make this matter a personal one? Be true to God, to Liberty, to our Country, to our allies, and thus be true to self.

REV. D. T. CONLAN, Elliot, Me.

SIGNIFICANT BRIEFS IN AMERICAN HISTORY

Nineteen years ago Sunday was begun the battle of Santiago. It was a two day's engagement and the division of the American forces under General Lawton, Chaffee, Ludlow and Colonel Miles, attacking El Caney, numbering 6,551 men almost annihilated the Spaniards numbering about 500. The Spanish forces were strongly entrenched and put up a fight, the heroism of which was characteristic of the ancient traditions of their race. However, the Americans, though in heavy clothing in a severe tropical climate and operating against a securely entrenched foe with smokeless powder, were determined, and when the battle was over 300 of the Spaniards had been killed and 150 captured. The American losses at this point were 57 killed and 355 wounded. The main Spanish lines were attacked by Generals Wheeler and Kent with a force of 8,336 men. The strength of the Spanish forces has been variously estimated at between 10,000 and 15,000, besides about 1,000 men of Cervera's fleet who were ashore. The battle was a bloody one and after a most heroic encounter the Americans were victorious. This was the battle of San Juan Hill and the victory that cost the Americans 141 killed and 951 wounded.

HUGE TANKER TURNED OVER TO HER OWNERS

Quincy, July 2.—As an indication of the demand for carriers of all descriptions, and the pressure at which the Fore River Shipbuilding Corporation is now working to turn out the vessels it has under construction, the Pennsylvania, a huge tanker nearly 450 feet in length, with a deadweight capacity of 9,100 tons, launched as recently as June 9, was yesterday placed in commission and delivered to her owners, the Texas Oil Company of New York.

The Pennsylvania left her slip at Fore River yesterday and her builders' trials will be conducted while she is en route for New York. The Fore River Company is steadily increasing its momentum. The number of men employed, working in night and day shifts, is gradually nearing the 7,000 mark. Pres. Joseph W. Powell states that in a few weeks he expects to have about 11,000 men, both skilled and unskilled, engaged in the yard. Government construction is progressing at full speed, manufacturers of material and supplies complying splendidly with the request of the Navy Department that they cooperate to their utmost capacity in helping to turn out orders for war vessels in record time.

GOVERNMENT REPORT ON COLORED SCHOOLS.

With national unity and solidarity the problem of the hour, special interest attaches to the comprehensive report on Negro Education, just issued by the Department of the Interior through the Bureau of Education. In this report the economic and educational problems of the ten million Negroes in the United States are presented as a background for a detailed study of more than seven hundred colored schools, and the problem of education for the Negroes is shown as affecting the entire country, North and South.

The report on Negro Education was prepared after four years of first hand study, made by Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, and a corps of assistants in various fields of education, working under the direction of Dr. P. P. Claxton, U. S. Commissioner of Education. The study was made possible through the cooperation of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, of New York, with the Bureau of Education.

The first volume of the report discusses features of general educational progress, with special reference to the Negro, and includes such topics as: Public facilities for Negro education; industrial education; agricultural and rural education; secondary education for Negroes; college and professional education; buildings and grounds; finance; history of Negro education. Volume II comprises descriptions of the more than 700 schools visited by the Bureau's agents, arranged by states and counties. It is believed that the specific facts given in connection with each of these schools will be of genuine assistance to the large number of individuals and organizations that contribute money for Negro schools, making it possible to discriminate between worthy and unworthy schools.

In his report Dr. Jones says: “No racial group in the United States offers so many problems of economic and social adjustment as the 10,000,000 Negroes. Negroes form almost a third of the total population of the Southern States. In Mississippi and South Carolina, they constitute over half the population; and in the ‘black belt’ counties, the proportion ranges from 60 to 90 per cent. The significance of such a concentration is difficult to explain to those not familiar with communities composed of people who differ widely not only in economic and educational status but also in ethnic type.

“In the 50 years since freedom was decreed, Negro illiteracy has decreased from over 90 per cent; nearly 1,000,000 colored men are now farmers of varying degrees of independence; a quarter of a million own their own farms and the total acreage of land owned by Negroes aggregates 20,000,000 acres of fertile soil. These facts are indisputable evidence not only that the colored people are capable of progress but also that their white neighbors have looked with favor upon their struggles and in many instances have actually given substantial aid to their endeavors.

“As the Negroes are the primary element that give rise to the problem, so are they becoming more and more an important factor in its solution. Their contribution includes both an increasing financial support and an ever larger proportion of the teaching force. They contribute not only a knotty share of the taxes for their public schools, but also a considerable sum toward the private schools. Furthermore, the colored people give considerable sums to extend the terms of the public schools. It is probable that their total gifts aggregate $500,000 annually over and above their share of the public taxes.

“Next to the Negroes, the group most concerned in this problem are the 20,500,000 white people of the South. No plan for the improvement of the colored group is well considered that does not contemplate the cooperation of the white group.

“Though the Northern States are not so immediately concerned in the education of the Negro race as the South or the Negroes themselves, the northern point of view and northern philanthropy are just as essential to the proper solution of the vexed problem as the other two elements. The total annual contribution of the North for the current expenses of the private schools aggregates $2,500,000. Of this fully $1 million and a half is given by the white churches for their denominational schools and another $1,000,000 is contributed by individual donors and churches for the maintenance of the independent institutions. Properly valuations in the private institutions founded by northern gifts now amount to $24,000,000.”

The conclusions drawn by the report are in brief as follows:

(1) That there is a pressing need for increased public school facilities for Negroes in the South.

(2) That the aid of philanthropy should be continued with the present liberality until the South was attained to a better economic condition.

(3) That all education should stress, first, the development of character, including the simple but fundamental virtues of cleanliness, order, perseverance, and the qualities essential to the home, and second, adaptation to the needs of the pupil and the community.

(4) That supervision of both public and private educational efforts should be increased, so that all agencies may be correlated with each other, sound business methods established, organization of work suited to income and plant, and building operations conducted with economy and good taste.

SHALL JOHNNY COME MARCHING HOME?

Between sixty and seventy years ago—Johnny—thousands of him—came marching home from Mexico. He came marching home in 1866 and 1898. Now, sooner or later he will come marching home again, and on a scale greater than the country ever before has seen. The three first of the four wars alluded to are history, but history that has been made within the recollections of people who still are living. If you ask them, these people, these people will doubtless tell you that Johnny's arms and dress were different, and that so were the formation in which he marched. But they will tell you also that in essence his homecomings were the same—poignantly the same.

Mentally at least, these people who are old enough to remember the scenes attendant upon Johnny's homecoming can hardly help but contrast each with another scene that presented it. That was when Main street of the home town was lined with cheering men and crying women or women trying not to cry; when “The Girl I Left Behind Me,” crashed and rattled and squealed, to be echoed and reechoed from the fronts of flag draped houses as Johnny's regiment, its ranks filled with clear-eyed youngsters like himself, all clumped away to that fiercely exultant air.

Perhaps those who recall to their minds the contrast between these scenes and those of Johnny's return will vaguely feel that there has been guilt somewhere, but it is exceedingly unlikely that they ever applied that sense of guilt to themselves. They should so apply it. Throughout the history of our country that guilt, in a greater or lesser degree, has rested upon the shoulders of practically every man and woman of all our millions.

Will it continue to rest? That remains to be seen.

Johnny has come marching home—yes, but how about those chums of his, Tom and Dick and Harry, and Bill and Charlie who never came home?

The obvious question to this question is that in war such things are inevitable; and in a measure of course—though in a much smaller measure than people in general suppose—this answer is correct. War is not a safe pursuit and nothing can make it so. The legitimate casualties of war cannot be prevented. It is the other sort of casualties, the ones that might be prevented, wherein lies the guilt.

Taught by the awful object lesson which for nearly three years has been held before us, our nation has learned one of two lessons, both stupendous, both of vital import to the very existence of the institutions set forth in that masterly document dated one hundred and forty-one years ago. One of those lessons is this:

Fighting, even in the ranks, is a trade, and one that is becoming more and more highly specialized with every hour that passes. Naturally it has to be learned, like any other trade. In it amateurs have no legitimate place. This lesson we have grasped. The exuberant volunteer system has gone. Johnny is receiving the very best instruction that our government can procure for him.

The second lesson also is realized by the government which, as far as possible is trying to cope with it. Fundamentally, however, the solution of its problem does not lie with any government. It lies with the women, the old men and the children—with those who stand on the sidewalk to watch Johnny march away.

What we, as a whole, fail at yet to comprehend, is Johnny's utter helplessness when once he has left us. One is not accustomed to thinking of him, armed, trained to deal destruction and protected from destruction by the best means that centuries of study can devise, as being helpless—but he is. Napoleon epitomized this fact in his famous saying that “an army travels on its belly.” He meant in effect that death and destruction are all that Johnny can produce. He must be clothed and fed.

That the food and clothing must come from home is axiomatic; so also is it that those whom Johnny leaves behind must likewise be fed and clothed. That there will probably be barely enough to go around is a ghastly fact known to all of us. That waste is a crime—a minor treason—is a conclusion that follows as a matter of course.

We are all aware of this—theoretically. But the want as yet has not pinched us. They many are there then, who really are trying to do his or her “bit” in preventing that waste?

Johnny's grandmother, scolding, the cook for not paring the potatoes more carefully, or for throwing away something which might have been used—she tries, for she remembers. So does Johnny's grandfather, whose right arm perhaps in a gray sleeve, was left at Gettysburg, as he refuses his evening lolly that the grain thus misused may not be consumed. He thinks of the crash of funeral volleys that need never have been fired, and the unutterably mournful notes of “laps” sounded in daylight, that ought never have been heard.

He and his wife both are thinking a time, now long past, when another regiment returned, in their minds they can hear echoing along the street that saw the regiment's departure, a tune that our country for many years has consecrated to the homecoming of the soldiers.

“When Johnny comes marching home again—

Hurrah, Hurrah! We'll give him a hearty welcome then. The men will cheer, the boys will shout. The ladies they will all turn out. And we'll all feel gay, when Johnny comes marching home.

They remember well, that old couple, how the ranks showed great gaps—gaps that were preserved with zealous care by the giant men who march on each side, in honor of those who filled those vacant intervals when the regiment last passed along that street. They know that somewhere within the hearing of that tune there are white-faced girls, each of whom fills one of those empty spaces in the ranks with a form invisible to others, but to her clear and distinct, a form that is destined to remain clear and distinct until, as a white-haired woman, she goes as she devoutly hopes and believes to join him where his image is enshrined in whatever holy place that such images are kept by the women who love them.

No, all is not gaily when Johnny's regiment comes marching home. Shall Johnny come with it? God alone knows. But for God's sake, let us give him all the chances there are.—Waldcott Le Clear Beard of the Vigilantes.

COAL SUPPLY IS AMPLE FOR THIS WINTER

According to the United States geological survey, 599,162,000 tons of bituminous coal were mined in this country during 1916. This is an increase of 15 per cent over the record of the previous year, but only a 6.5 per cent increase over the production of 1913. More than one-third of this huge output comes from Pennsylvania, and more than three-fifths of it comes from the three states of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Illinois.

Of anthracite 35,312,000 tons were mined during the year, all in Pennsylvania. If that state were in Europe, what a prize it would be to fight for!

All our coal mines being exhausted by this vast production? Not at a rate which need worry us, or cause fears that the next generation will freeze to death. Nearly 10 years ago a competent engineer analyzed the figures of soft coal production and reserve and concluded that if our output continued to increase according to the growth shown up to that time, it would reach a stable maximum of 2,300,000,000 tons per year about the year 2150, and that 700 years more of production at that rate would exhaust the known coal measures of the United States.

Since the world's production has advanced at a slower rate than he anticipated and important new deposits have come to light, there should be no waste of our "black" fuel, but neither is there any occasion for alarm. Anthracite, of course, is another matter; but even of that there is enough to last for at least a century.

23 STATES ARE NOW "BONE DRY" SINCE SATURDAY

Twenty-three states became bone-dry at midnight Saturday the effective hour of the Reed amendment, prohibiting shipment of liquor into any territory where its manufacture or sale is prohibited. Eleven other states are partially affected by the legislation, which has been hailed by temperance advocates as the greatest single step toward abolition of the liquor traffic yet taken in the Nation's history.

The law bars from prohibition areas whether states or smaller corporations all mail matter, containing advertisements or solicitations for orders for intoxicants, a provision designed to aid in enforcing the antismuggling feature by suppressing the activities of mail order houses in dry territory.

The National Justice and Postoffice Department officials have made extensive preparations for enforcement of the statute. United States marshals and postal inspectors everywhere have been instructed to be on the lookout for violations, for which there are heavy penalties.

Methyl alcohol is regarded by the Federal Government as an intoxicating liquor within the meaning of the act, but methyl wood and denatured alcohol are not so regarded. No ruling has been made regarding the status of patent medicines containing alcohol and that question may be among the first to be passed on by the courts under the legislation.

The language of the antismuggling section is very comprehensive, imposing a fine of $1000 and imprisonment for six months, or both, on any person who shall "order, purchase or cause intoxicating liquors to be transported to interstate commerce except for scientific, sacramental, medicinal or mechanical purposes, into any state or territory the laws of which state or territory prohibit the manufacture or sale thereof of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes."

The same penalties are prescribed for violators of the anti-advertising section. For a second offense in either case, the penalty is made one year's imprisonment.

Following are the states wholly affected by the act: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, Washington and West Virginia.

Those partially affected are California, Connecticut, Delaware, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, and Texas.

The following are affected at future dates: Alaska, Jan. 1, 1918; Indiana, April 3, 1918; Michigan, April 30, 1918; Montana, Dec. 31, 1918 and Utah, Aug. 1, 1917.

PERT FACTS ON THE GREAT WAR

Champagne

The Champagne province in which such severe fighting has recently taken place, is bounded on the north by Luxembourg and Liege, on the east by Lorraine, on the south by Burgundy and on the west by Isle de France and Picardy. It consists of immense plains, as its name indicates (from Latin "campagna," meaning "country of plains") which are conducive to open and hence severe fighting. The land is extremely fertile and produces a rich quality of grape from which is made the wine named after it of world-wide reputation.

In its present form the Champagne country consists of the department of Aube, Ardennes, Marne, Haute Marne, together with part of those of Meuse, Aisne, Yonne and Seine-et-Marne.

In the Middle Ages it constituted a county of which Troyes was the capital. Toward the end of the Middle Ages, the duchies of Langes and Rheims were joined with the county of Chalons and Champagne to form Champagne as it is today.

During the Twelfth and Thirteenth Centuries fairs were held there which were famous all over Europe. They were six in number, two at Troyes, two at Provins, one at Langres, one at Bar-sur-Seine, one at Bar-sur-Aube. The year was divided into six parts and in the cycle the fairs were held at Langres, Bar, Provins, Troyes, Provins and Troyes respectively. They were held for the purpose of selling the products of the soil and for exchange with the merchants who came there with comforts from other lands.

ATTEMPT TO LAUNCH THE AMERICAN OPERA.

New York, July 1.—A concerted movement by American composers and dramatists and leaders of national civic and musical organizations, for the production of American opera and other native music in the English language, will be formally launched here tomorrow.

While the offices of the organization directing the movement will be in New York, its incorporators represent all sections of the country. Reginald de Koven, the composer, is chairman of the National Committee of Organization. Its other members being: Mrs. David Allen Campbell, Chicago; Charles W. Cadman, San Francisco; John Alden Carpenter, Chicago;

George W. Chadwick, Boston; Frederick S. Converse, Boston; Arthur Farwell, New York; Henry Hadley, Boston; Mrs. W. A. Hinkie, Peoria, Ill.; Percy Mackaye, New York; Douglas Maclellan, Chicago; W. J. MacCoy, San Francisco; Max Rabinooff, New York; Joseph Redding, San Francisco; Mrs. Frank A. Selberling, Akron, Ohio; Lee Shubert, New York; John Philip Sousa, New York; Mrs. William D. Steele, Sedalia, Mo.; and David Stevens, New York.

The announced policy of the organization is to produce throughout the United States operatic works by American composers and dramatists only, acted and sung by an all-American company, with an all-American orchestra, chorus and ballet.

"It is evident," said Mr. de Koven today, "that American music never will be definitely developed by the employment of the foreign artist and the performance of foreign works. Italy, with less than a third the population of the United States, possesses sixty-three producing opera houses. The music of Germany and France has been made familiar to the world by its endorsement at home. Russian opera, similarly encouraged, now is being sung internationally in increasing measure year by year."

"Of all the great music-loving and music-supporting nations of the earth, America alone, until now, has made no material effort for the encouragement of her native and natural musical genius."

"We have spent millions to hear foreign singers and declined to hear our own."

"The different interests which have been working separately to correct this condition now have been brought together in one organization. They are all inspired by the same ideals, the one essential hitherto lacking being coordination in one definite practical plan."

"This union of forces constitutes the most forward step in the development of American native music in the history of the country. The American composer and dramatist of a really notable work are now assured proper presentation, and an adequate number of performances. The American singer is to be given an opportunity and an audience. The American people will be permitted to enjoy music in their native tongue and to contribute to its development."

"It is a patriotic and historic movement, deserving universal American support at a time when, as never before, our national consciousness is awakening, and when we realize that in art, as in all things, America must take her high place among the nations of the world."

DECREASE IN TOBACCO CROP BOTHERS FRANCE.

Paris, July 1.—There is a shortage of tobacco in France. It originated in decreased production and is being aggravated by increased consumption. The French crop of 1916 was 15,000 tons as compared with 25,000 tons in 1915.

Certain popular brands of cigarettes have been unobtainable in Paris for ten days. To smokers' complaints, the state tobacco monopoly officials reply that restriction in the use of tobacco is necessary.

France smokes about 6,000 tons of tobacco a month on the average, of which nearly 5,000 tons must now be imported under conditions that do not permit any assured regularity in receipts.

The increase in sales of cigarettes during the first four months of this year was 200,000,000 over 1916. This seems large until it is recalled that this quantity represents only forty cigarettes for each soldier, British and French, mobilized in France, to say nothing of the civilians.

HIT LAWRENCE WOMAN WITH IRON DRILL

(By Associated Press)

Lawrence, July 1.—An assault with an iron drill was made upon Mrs. William H. Andrews, an aged woman, in an attempt to rob her in her home, 173 Garden street yesterday afternoon. Responding to her door bell she found two men who demanded money. She screamed and was struck on the head. The men disappeared when neighbors were attracted by her cries.

Mrs. Andrews described her assailants as about 18 years of age and apparently foreigners. The drill bore the stamp of the Boston and Maine Railroad.

THREE KILLED IN ACCIDENT AT CROSSING

(By Associated Press)

Portland, Me., July 1.—Three persons are dead as the result of the hitting of an auto by the mountain train on the Maine Central railroad this afternoon at Bridgton Junction. Gihnan N. Kimball, assistant yard master of the Maine Central terminal company and Mrs. Alice Jewell were killed outright. Mrs. Alice Weeman, daughter of Mrs. Jewell, was so badly injured that she died on the way to the hospital at North Conway, N. H.

The accident occurred on a grade crossing which is considered very dangerous as the crossing and tracks are hidden by high brush beyond a curve in the road. The bodies of Kimball and Mrs. Jewell were thrown forty feet along the tracks as the auto was struck.

REV. W. A. MORGAN WILL LEAVE DOVER CHURCH

(By Associated Press)

Dover, N. H., July 1.—Rev. Walter A. Morgan, for 1-2 years pastor of the First Parish Congregational Church of this city, will accept the pastorate of Mt. Vernon Congregational Church of Washington, and his resignation as pastor here was read today by Dr. William W. Hayes, chairman of the standing committee. The resignation will take effect Oct. 1.

PROCESSIONAL

By Kate Young Rice of the Vigilantes.
Not for a haunted flag, O God,
Not for a flaunted power,
Not for a scurried hope of gain,
Not for the pride of an hour,
Not for vengeance, hot in the heart,
Now do we swing to war;
Not for a weak mislaid test piece
Is a shame strong men abhor.
Not for glory—for oh, to kill
Should be a sacred wrath;
Not for these, But to war on war
And sweep it from earth's path.

Patience has been our creed, till now,
Patience, too, our hope,
Patience for long, our lotful deed,
For the just in doubt must grope.
But with a foe at last arrayed
Against the whole world's right,
You, O soil of the universe,
Your very self must fight.
You yourself; so but one prayer
Need we to lift—but one,
That by our battle shall all war
Be utterly undone.

FOR EVERY ROOM IN THE HOUSE

The dining room, the bedroom, the parlor, or the kitchen—we have something for each—a large assortment to choose from—a wide range of prices.

We believe that buying trashy furniture is the most expensive investment one can make. So we try to sell honest furniture—furniture that will wear and hold together—at the lowest prices that such things can be sold for. That's your kind, and you will see as much of it in no other store as we are showing.

One of the greatest secrets of good housekeeping is how to make the best showing and secure the greatest comfort for the money spent. Come in and let us show you how to buy furniture that will yield the greatest amount of comfort and make the best showing within your money limit.

IN MEMORY OF DECEASED COMPANIONS

Constitution Circle, Companions of the Forest, Hold Memorial Services.

The annual memorial services by the member of Constitution Circle, No. 294, Companions of the Forest, in memory of their deceased companions were held at the U. V. U. hall on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and were well attended. The ritualistic exercises of the order were carried out in a very impressive manner by the officers. Following the exercises at the hall the members repaired to St. Mary's and Cavalry cemeteries where the graves of the deceased members were decorated. During the past year Constitution Circle has lost only one companion, Miss Margaret M. Meade, and since its organization twenty-two deaths have occurred.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the Portsmouth Electric railway changed the running schedule today.

That the half hour service on the main line to Rye does not start until 11:30 a. m. week days.

That the small boy is wondering if he will have the pleasure of throwing a few barrels on a fire to welcome the Fourth of July.

That a man in Texas says although he didn't realize that bonds of matrimony were war bonds, he has seen war declared more than once since he got them.

That the male wrist watch is not so much of a joke now when it is accompanied by a khaki uniform.

That over 80 Dover mechanics are employed at the Portsmouth navy yard.

That the traffic police had plenty to do on Sunday.

That some shifts are said to be on the way in the fire department.

That a dollar bill was auctioned off in Baltimore for the Red Cross and fifty dollars was paid for the lone plank.

That this is the highest premium ever paid for the greenback.

That wrecked autos and other motor vehicles were numerous along the roads on Sunday.

That the President and Senator Lodge say: "Let the people have their beer," but they don't mention Maine whiskey, and old John Barleycorn looks doomed.

That Mose and John Perkins of Ogunquit are in a row over a pig.

That John brought Mose into court and claimed that the pig was too near his house.

That Judge Laley of Saco says Mose can keep all the porkers he wishes as long as the conditions are sanitary.

That John must fight it out with the board of health if he wants his pigskin removed.

That many a man who was busy writing love letters before marriage, is kept busy writing checks after.

That the season opened with a rush at York Beach on Sunday.

That the small ought to be happy with a circus and the glorious Fourth on the way.

CATHOLIC NOTES

Nothing but the weather will prevent a large crowd from assembling at the Knights of Columbus Home and grounds tonight where the Young Ladies' Sodality will have charge of the entertainment in aid of the war relief. The several committees have left nothing undone that will add pleasure to the occasion, and nobody will regret the time and money given for this worthy object.

A high mass of requiem will be offered on Wednesday morning in memory of the late Edward J. Gibbons at 8 o'clock.

The services for the first Friday of July will be as follows: Masses at 5:30 and 7 a. m., with rosary and benediction at 7:30 in the evening.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Harriet N. Martin

Mrs. Harriet N. Martin, widow of Chandler Martin, passed away at her home in Newcastle at 1 o'clock Sunday morning. She was born Sept. 25, 1817, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zeechous Vennard. Mrs. Martin was the oldest resident of Newcastle and for many years acted as "office girl" for Dr. Fred S. Towle of this city and was undoubtedly the oldest office girl in the country. She is survived by one sister, several nieces and nephews. She was a devout attendant at the Congregational church.

The funeral services will be held at the home on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

NOTICE.

Don't forget the dancing party at Grange Hall, Elliot, Wednesday evening, July 4.

RETIRE AFTER MANY YEARS OF SERVICE

Charles A. Hazlett Had Been a Prominent Figure in Banking Circles for 46 Years.

Charles A. Hazlett, president of the Piscataqua Savings Bank, retired from active banking today after 46 years' service in the First National and Piscataqua Savings Banks. He entered the First National as book-keeper in 1872, and was elected cashier in 1881, which position he held until within the last two years when he was elected president of the Piscataqua Savings Bank. He has been one of the most active bank men in the state with a large acquaintance with the banking men of the country. As a mark of the esteem in which he is held by his associates in the bank they tendered him a farewell dinner at the Ocean Wave House. Manager Harrington put up a fine menu and the party numbered thirty-eight persons. During the evening he was presented with a solid gold fountain pen. Mr. Hazlett will devote his time to large personal interests.

RESERVISTS APPRECIATE TREATMENT

Accorded Them During Their Stay in This City and Extend Vote of Thanks.

The news came to us last Thursday that we are to be transferred, and to the majority of us it causes a deep regret. Our stay in Portsmouth has been short but the people have done everything in their power to make us wish it longer. You have certainly accomplished your purpose and it causes a great disappointment to leave, the town that has been made so much like home for us.

We do not know into what we are going, but we feel that wherever we go we will not be received in the same cordial manner that we were here.

So we take this method through the columns of your paper to show our appreciation and give a hearty vote of thanks to all of the churches, the Y. M. C. A. and societies that have so endeavored to make our stay here a very desirable one.
